HEY EVERYBODY, IT'S AUCTION TIME!

To first-timers, the idea of equipment auctions can seem daunting. While it can obviously be advantageous to know the exact date that your equipment will sell, many sellers are understandably concerned about maximizing revenue when selling valuable equipment, and a no-reserve auction format can seem like a big risk. But experienced sellers know the risk are actually quite low, and the rewards can be significant. A successful auction experience does not require bravery – it simply needs to be managed correctly by professionals with the experience and resources to reach the widest audience possible and optimize revenue. And that's where we come in.

By strategically promoting your auction listings to thousands of interested, registered bidders in Atlantic Canada and all over North America, at the exact time when they're actively looking at similar equipment and ready to buy, we make sure your listings are best positioned to reach maximum value at auction. In fact, we recently converted a number of our regular website listings to auction listings and watched them sell at auction for thousands of dollars MORE than originally listed.

Eastern Frontier can manage every step of the process for you, from appraisal and photos/videos to promotion and marketing, through the entire transaction from start to finish. Send us your equipment list and we'll get started right away.

EQUIPMENT LIFE CYCLE: 3 PHASES OF A SUCCESSFUL AUCTION

Valuation

- Detailed asset appraisal by one of our experts (located throughout Atlantic Canada).
- Confirm required inspections, if applicable.
- Produce valuation forecast based on comparable asset/fleet value data and market trends over the past 5 years, and carefully projected values over the next 12 months.
- Determine market value, asking prices and auction prices per asset.
- Produce quality photos and videos of each asset as needed, including any required image editing and preparation for publication.

Pre-Auction

- Multi-level strategic marketing and advertising, in print and online, so the right people see your equipment as soon as possible.
- Promoting pre-auction assets to Eastern Frontier's national dealer network (often resulting in direct sales at premium prices before auctions even start).
- Showcasing auction listings in advance on Eastern Frontier's website (global reach with thousands of new users every month); listings on the website can be transacted up until one week prior to the auction date).
- Partnering with the mighty Sandhills (AuctionTime, MarketBook, Machinery Trader etc.) for unmatched reach throughout North America.

AuctionTime

- Serve your auction listings to tens of thousands of active bidders, all over North America. Your listing is strategically placed so lots are seen by everyone bidding on similar items, near and far. (For example, if you're auctioning trucks, everyone bidding on trucks from any location can see your listings.)
- Timed auction format with automatic time extension when last-minute bids are made, ensuring maximum visibility and bid action.
- Certainty of sale, with no transportation costs to the seller.
- Billing and other inquiries are fully handled by Eastern Frontier.

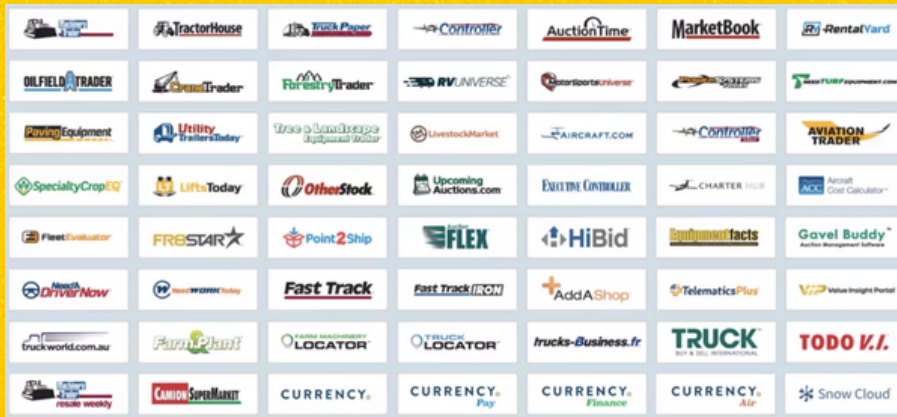

Eastern Frontier has partnered with respected industry leader Sandhills to administer the very powerful AuctionTime platform, for an online auction experience that's effective and enjoyable for buyers and sellers alike.

AuctionTime consistently brings auction values higher than any other auction platform.

Beyond Eastern Frontier's massive reach already, AuctionTime also reaches millions of registered users monthly via trusted online, print and mobile platforms.

OVER 50 SANDHILLS BRANDS = UNMATCHED VISIBILITY

This bidders map from one recent Eastern Frontier auction shows that we attracted active bidders (the grey circles) all across Canada, the US, and Mexico, and even a few in South America. The red circles are the winning bidders, mostly located in Eastern Canada but also several in the US and one in South America.

Eastern Frontier's vast experience, knowledge, and connections, combined with the heavy duty power and worldwide reach of AuctionTime, ensure that your experience bringing your valuable equipment to auction is both positive and profitable. We handle all the work involved, and all the details through each step of the transaction.
